RECMAR Products Acquires Galietti Company Product Line

With the recent passing of Galietti Company President Al Galietti, RECMAR Products will offer the full Galietti line of products.

Houston, TX, June 23, 2010 – RECMAR Products and Galietti Company have agreed to transition the complete Galietti Company product line exclusively to RECMAR Products. Al Galietti, the President of Galietti Company, passed away in late May, following a prolonged illness. Given his central role in the company's operation, this agreement was executed quickly to minimize customer impact. As has always been the case with Galietti Company, the customers' needs remain the top priority.

The Galietti line of products includes a wide range of aluminum and vinyl headliner retainers, panel retainers, retainer caps, curtain tracks, snap tape, and curtain glides. Notable Galietti customers include Gulfstream Aerospace, Piper Aircraft, Cessna, LearJet, and Airstream, along with a wide range of aviation and aircraft interior companies.

"Al Galietti was very well respected throughout the industry," noted Keith Harrison, President of RECMAR Products. "Recent conversations with Galietti's customers and suppliers leave no doubt how fond people were of Al, and he will certainly be missed. Our priority now becomes effectively maintaining the strong reputation of the Galietti brand moving forward."

RECMAR Products is a leading manufacturer and distributor of curtain track systems and drapery hardware. There is little overlap in products or customers, despite the two companies' product similarities. RECMAR's experience in supplying the automotive industry will allow for a smooth transition into the aviation market.

Art Galietti, Al's brother, has assumed the role of President of Galietti Company to manage the transition. He will also serve as a consultant to RECMAR, bringing 30 years of experience in marketing and advertising. "This agreement is a form of high respect to the memory of my brother, Al, as well as the Galietti name," said Art.

The addition of the Galietti line of products to RECMAR's offering should be completed by the end of June. All Galietti inventory will be fully available at that time. The combination of these popular products and RECMAR's operational expertise will result in an improved buying experience.
